What our clients say about us

Sean Anstett

Gretza helped me every step of the way to buy my first house. She knew exactly which houses would be approved by the VA sometimes within seconds of stepping inside which was very helpful. I strongly recommend Gretza for a realtor and loan officer.

Andrea Mauriello

Gretza searched high and low for a home with a pool and fenced yard with at least 3 bedrooms. We were coming from across the country and not able to see it in person. She did videos for us and she was our eyes (and nose) and found us one that has turned into the perfect place. Very happy.

Francisco Rivera

I cannot put into words how thankful my wife and I were to have worked with Gretza. Her ability to really understand what we wanted and to find us our home was remarkable. Our home was purchased 30K under market value, this is accredited to Gretza expertise of negotiation and tenacity. If your agent doesn't have the resilience that Gretza has, you are truly doing a disservice to yourself and your family. Go HIRE GRETZA. Thank You Weeepaa!!!!

The home buying process

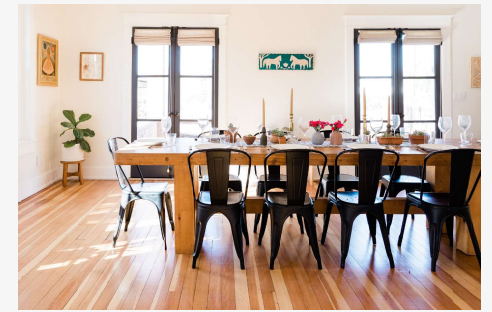

The stages of purchasing a home

The home buying process in 10 steps

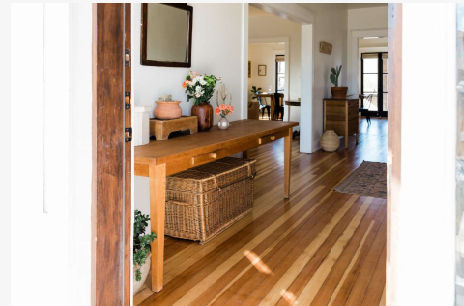

01

Do your initial research

02

Set a budget.

03

Hire the right real estate agent.

04

Seek credit pre-approval.

05

Visit shortlisted homes.

06

Make an offer to the seller.

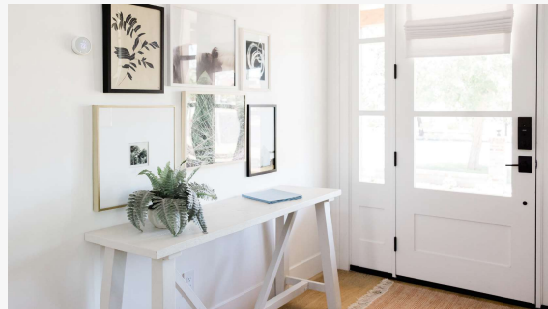

07

Review and sign
the seller's contract.

08

Get home financing.

09

Purchase a home
insurance policy.

10

Close and move.

01

Do your initial research

You're already paying a mortgage,
you might as well
pay your own mortgage.

Start by doing your initial research before purchasing a home. Explore different neighborhoods, home prices, schools, property taxes, insurance costs, and local amenities to better understand what fits your lifestyle and budget.

Set your Budget

Set a realistic budget before starting your home search. Review your income, monthly expenses, savings, debts, and comfort level with monthly payments. Remember to factor in not only the mortgage payment, but also property taxes, homeowners insurance, HOA fees, maintenance, utilities, and closing costs. Having a clear budget will help you focus on homes you can comfortably afford and avoid financial stress later on.

03

Meet with a Realtor and Loan Officer

When looking for a mortgage loan, work with a wholesale lender, since they have access to more investors and more loan programs than retail banks that only have a limited amount of programs to help their niche clients. Often, their underwriting guidelines are stricter than wholesale lenders.

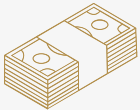

Brokerage vs. Retail Bank

A wholesale lender has access to multiple investors and a wider variety of loan programs to fit different financial situations. This allows them to offer more options for buyers with lower credit scores, first-time home buyers, self-employed borrowers, real estate investors, and many other unique financing needs.

Review your credit score or standing to see if you qualify for financing.

Lenders are not only looking at your credit score — they are evaluating your entire credit profile and financial behavior. This includes your payment history, any late payments or collections, the amount of debt you carry compared to your available credit, recent credit inquiries, new accounts opened, bankruptcies or foreclosures, and the overall length and stability of your credit history.

Getting financing may take time, so make sure you complete this step early on.

Getting financing can take time because lenders must review your income, credit, assets, employment, and required documentation before approving your loan. Starting the process early helps avoid delays and gives you time to address any issues that may come up during underwriting.

04

Seek credit pre-approval

Get your documents together

- ID
- 2 months bank statements
- Retirement Account or Investments Statement
- one month pay stubs
- 2 years W2's (tax returns if self employed)

In order to assess your financial situation, a loan officer will need the above documents to help in the pre-qualification process

The loan application

Personal information:

- Name, SSN, Date of birth
- Marital Status
- Veteran Status
- Any bankruptcies
- Other financial responsibilities
- Child support or alimony

05

Visit shortlisted homes

Check out and tour your top picks with your realtor.

Seeing is believing.

Work with your Realtor to narrow down your favorite homes and schedule private tours or attend open houses. During these tours, pay close attention to the home's condition, layout, neighborhood, commute, nearby amenities, and any features that are most important to you and your family. Your Realtor will help guide you through the process, answer questions, point out important details, and help you compare properties so you can confidently choose the right home for your needs and budget.

Visit shortlisted homes

Feel free to ask lots of questions about each home.

Feel free to ask as many questions as possible about each home. Buying a home is a major investment, and it's important to fully understand the property before making a decision. Ask about the age and condition of major items such as the roof, A/C, plumbing, electrical system, windows, appliances, and water heater. You should also ask about HOA fees and restrictions. Your Realtor is there to help you gather information, explain the process, and make sure you feel confident and informed every step of the way.

06

Make an offer to the seller

If you're 100% sure about getting the house, name your asking price.

Once you find the home you truly love and feel confident moving forward, your Realtor will help you prepare and submit an offer. Our Realtor will guide you through the negotiation process and help you structure the strongest offer possible while protecting your best interests. In competitive markets, acting quickly and strategically can make a big difference in getting your offer accepted.

07

Review and sign the seller's contract

Once all parties sign the contract, the home officially goes under contract and the closing process begins.

08

Get home financing

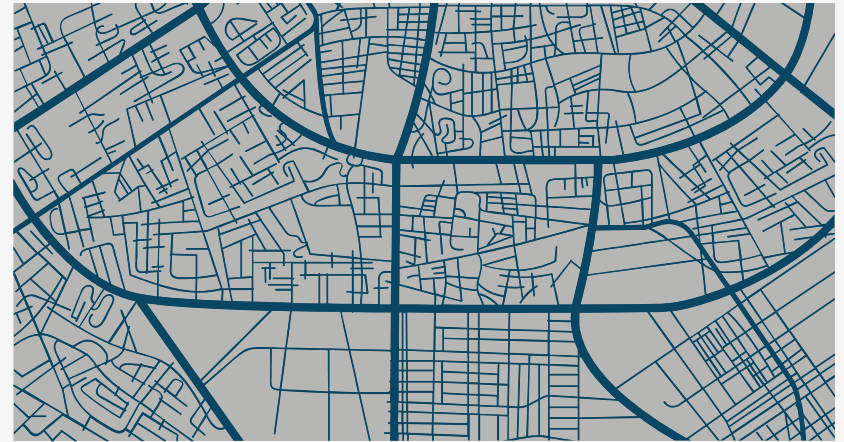

With pre-approval and a signed agreement, it's easier to get financing from your lender.

With a pre-approval letter and signed purchase agreement, your lender can move forward with the official loan process more smoothly. The lender will finalize the review of your finances and the property, so it's important to provide requested documents quickly and avoid major financial changes before closing.

Purchase a home insurance policy

If you are financing your home purchase, your lender will require homeowners insurance before closing. Depending on the property's location and flood zone designation, flood insurance may also be required. These insurance policies help protect both you and the lender from potential property damage or loss.

A solid insurance policy helps protect you, your family, and your home from unexpected events such as storms, fire, theft, accidents, or other damages. It can also provide liability protection and help cover repair or replacement costs, giving you peace of mind and financial security as a homeowner.

Close and move

Welcome to your new home!

Closing day is the final step in the home buying process. You will sign your final documents, review closing costs, and officially become a homeowner. Once the transaction is complete, you will receive the keys to your new home. Congratulations and welcome home!

Plan for moving day. Moving on your closing day is ideal, but always have a plan B.

Always have a backup plan when buying a home. Closings can sometimes be delayed due to financing issues, appraisal conditions, title work, repairs, insurance, or other unexpected situations. It's important to plan ahead and make sure you have temporary housing, storage options, or flexible moving arrangements in case your closing date changes.
